Nominations for the SULF Award 2026

SULF at Chalmers will award an annual prize of SEK 10,000 for the best bachelor's or master's thesis related to trade union work. In 2026, the theme is "The role of technology in the future workplace" which is closely tied to key union issues such as: working conditions, equality, transition, participation, and the impact of technology on the nature of work. The purpose of the award is to support research aimed at improving the situation at work.

All students and employees at Chalmers can nominate a thesis, and the nominations must be sent to sulf-chalmers@chalmers.se not later than August 30, 2026. The bachelor's/master's thesis should be attached to the application. All the nominations will be evaluated by the committee, and the winner will be chosen by the SULF board at Chalmers. The award will be given during the SULF day at Chalmers in September-October 2026.
